"The topics that aided me tremendously were governance, the community and superintendent along with communications, political mapping, and project sharing."

"The academy has been excellent for my professional growth as well as my own growth. You learn so much about the trends in leadership, and you learn about yourself. It prepares you for the Superintendency and to be a great leader for your district and for your students."

Superintendents Academy graduates are highly sought after for their capacity to transform the culture of systems and schools, to dramatically improve student achievement, and to close the achievement gap. Academy graduates have a firm advantage when seeking a Superintendent position.

The program is facilitated and led by a team of master teachers and guests who have served as Superintendents themselves, each boasting a demonstrable track record of success.

The Academy is structured around five two-day sessions. In addition, the program includes up to seven days of online and independent study work.
